

New Website for Moms with Questions

Tapping into an always growing market is a great idea. That is exactly what has been accomplished by a new question and answer forum-style website, <http://www.momloves.us>. Developers of this uniquely fun website offer a special free forum just for moms. This website is very mom centric, informative and useful for moms of all experience levels.

(PRWEB) March 24, 2010 -- Tapping into an always growing market is a great idea. That is exactly what has been accomplished by a new question and answer forum-style website, <http://www.momloves.us>. Developers of this uniquely fun website offer a special free forum just for moms. This website is very mom centric, informative and useful for moms of all experience levels.

The format is question and answer. "We have over 100 users who have already contributed more than 1200 questions, comments and answers that deal with one related topic: Mom," says founder, Todd Olivas. Forum topics include: how to be a better Mom, how to improve Mom skills, what to do about particular toddler problems and other situations typically encountered by new or experienced moms.

The benefit is that anyone can ask or answer mom related questions. Comments are rated by users in such a manner that the best ones remain at the top of the long list of comments. Popular topics like safety, product reviews and bringing up children are addressed by those with the experience – other moms. Topic tags make finding questions moms want to know about easy to locate amidst hundreds of questions. Want to know what great advice other SAHMs or WAHMs have? (Or what a SAHM or WAHM even is?) This is the site for you!

MomLoves.us uses a point system to score comments. Users can earn, spend or lose points and build up their reputation for great answers and/or questions. For fun, users earn badge names like 3 digit club, 4 digit club, founding mother or chatty. Names are earned and points based on the user's own scores, views, questions, answers and comments.

Mom has rules. For comments seen as inappropriate, there are penalties. Lose points or even become banned. MomLoves.us wants only the best for their users!

Easy registration is required. Once a user has registered, they may freely comment on other user questions or easily post their own. Comments are entered with popular tags so that other moms can easily locate topics of interest. MomLoves.US is a unique and fun resource for all moms with questions about any aspect of being a loving, caring mom.

For additional information or to join this interesting forum, visit the website at: <http://www.momloves.us>.

###

Contact Information

Todd Olivas

Mom Loves Us

<http://www.momLOVES.us>

888-566-0253

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.

PRWebPodcast Available

Listen to Podcast MP3 Listen to Podcast iTunes Listen to Podcast OGG